Mini Campaign Reporting

2009 Campaign Disclosure Instructions

"The public's right to know of the financing of political campaigns and lobbying and the financial affairs of elected officials and candidates far outweighs any right that these matters remain secret and private."

RCW 42.17.010 (10)

July 2009

THE PUBLIC DISCLOSURE LAW

Adopted as Initiative 276 in 1972

Codified as Chapter 42.17

Revised Code of Washington

The Public Disclosure Commission, five citizens and a small full time staff, administers the law and the rules implementing it.

Instructions in this booklet are provided to assist in the preparation of campaign disclosure reports required by chapter 42.17 RCW. Care has been taken to make these instructions accurate yet concise. However, these instructions cannot be substituted for the applicable provisions of chapter 42.17 RCW and 390 WAC. The law and rules are controlling in the event of any conflict with or omission in the instructions. Copies of the law and rules are available on request.

This manual covers the mini reporting option. There are separate Full Reporting instruction books for state executive and legislative candidates, local and judicial candidates and other political committees.

PDC also has computer software available free of charge to assist with campaign record keeping and reporting. Call the number shown below for details.

All reports on file with the Commission are public records. Copies are available at cost:

Paper copies of scanned records:	per page
Diskette:	$.25 each
CD ROM:	$ 2 each

A significant amount of information filed with the Commission by candidates, political committees and lobbyists is available on the Internet. PDC's Web address is:

Is Mini Reporting Right for you?

The mini reporting option limits candidates and political committees to raising and spending no more than $5,000, not including the filing fee. In addition, under mini reporting no contributor may give more than $500 in the aggregate, except for candidates giving to their own campaigns.

Candidates and political committees choosing mini reporting must file registration statements (the C-1 form for candidates and the C-1pc form for political committees) and keep records of their contributions and expenditures. However, they do not need to file contribution and expenditure reports. A Personal Financial Affairs Statement (F-1) is required for candidates selecting the mini reporting option.

Before deciding to significantly restrict your campaign buying power, consider such factors as your level of name identification in the district (Do the voters know who you are and what you stand for?), the caliber of your opposition (Are you challenging an incumbent or another person who's especially well known and respected in your community?), and have you considered the cost of printing and mailing brochures or of newspaper and broadcast advertising?

These factors and more must be taken into account before selecting a reporting option. The Public Disclosure Commission (PDC) suggests you do some research and rough out a budget for your campaign. You may find – as experience has shown us at PDC – that $5,000 doesn't go very far and is generally insufficient to wage a full-scale, visible campaign. While there is a mechanism for changing reporting options, you will save both time and aggravation if your first choice of options is the right one for you.

Candidates choosing the mini reporting option are required to file a Personal Financial Affairs Statement (PDC form F-1) and a candidate registration (PDC form C-1). Both of these forms are due within two weeks of becoming a candidate.

Political committees using the mini reporting option are required to file a political committee registration (PDC form C-1pc). This report is due within two weeks of the committee's forming, unless the committee forms within three weeks of the election, then the report is due within three business days of forming. After selecting mini reporting, continuing political committees must annually renew the choice by filing a C-1pc each January.

Part 1. General Information About the Law

Introduction

The primary purpose of the campaign disclosure provisions of the Public Disclosure Law is to provide citizens of this state with the means for becoming informed about the financing of political campaigns. The law requires that records be kept and reports be filed of all contributions and expenditures. Detailed reporting of small contributions and expenditures is not mandated.

All candidates and committees subject to the Public Disclosure Law must do some reporting to the Public Disclosure Commission (PDC), regardless of the amount of money they will receive from contributors or spend on their campaigns.

This instruction manual is designed for candidates and political committees and their treasurers who have selected the mini reporting option.

The key to complying with the Public Disclosure Law is to keep detailed records of each contribution and expenditure and file reports on time. All records acquired with respect to the campaign must be kept for five years from the date of the election.

Reports are considered filed as of the postmark or hand delivery date. The original of each campaign disclosure report completed is filed with PDC. A copy of each report is also sent to the elections office of the county in which the candidate resides. Political committees, including continuing political committees, file copies of their reports with the county election office of the county in which the committee headquarters is located, or if there is no headquarters, the county in which the treasurer resides. A listing of the name and address of each county's election office is located on page 38 of this manual.

Candidates for some city offices, for example, City of Kirkland and City of Seattle offices, must also file disclosure reports with the city clerk based on city ordinance requirements. Check with your local city clerk to see if such a local ordinance applies to you.

All paper reports, schedules and attachments should be typewritten or printed in black ink. Use 8 1/2" x 11" white paper for attachments or enclosures. Reports are scanned into a document imaging system for viewing on computer monitors. (The paper reports are then sent to the State Record Center for storage.) If a filer submits over-sized paper this significantly slows down the process for entering reports into PDC's record keeping system.

Computerized Record Keeping and Reporting

Persons who must file campaign disclosure reports may obtain copies of the blank forms they will need from PDC at www.pdc.wa.gov or their county auditor's office (in King County, contact the Records, Elections and Licensing Services Division). Or, computer software is available free-of-charge. The ORCA (Online Reporting of Campaign Activity) software will create all of the candidate and political committee reports necessary to comply with state laws. Each report is automatically produced and can be electronically filed over the Internet and/or printed for hard copy filing.

Minimum System Requirements:

Windows – Windows 2000; 256 MB RAM, 1 Ghz Processor; 500 MB free disk space; an Internet connection; and Java Runtime Environment (JRE) 1.5.

Apple/MAC – MAC OS X Version 10.4 Tiger and Java Runtime Environment (JRE) 1.5.

Mandatory Electronic Filing

All candidates who expect to spend $10,000 on the current campaign or met the $10,000 expenditure threshold in the last campaign for the same office are required to submit campaign finance reports electronically. Additionally, all political committees, including ballot measure committees, who expended $10,000 or more last year, or expect to spend $10,000 or more during the current year, are required to submit campaign finance reports electronically.

The PDC has developed free campaign finance reporting software for use in filing Washington State disclosure reports electronically. The application is NOT campaign management software; it is designed specifically to meet the reporting requirements under RCW 42.17.

If you are using a different type of campaign finance software, the PDC can send you a vendor kit; a software development package that with some additional advanced programming, may enable your campaign to file electronically using your current software.

The Commission may make exceptions on a case-by-case basis for candidates whose authorized committees lack the technological ability to file reports electronically. A candidate seeking an exception under RCW 42.17.3691 shall file with the PDC a written statement of reasons why the authorized committee lacks the ability to file reports electronically.

Who Must Report

Candidates

Candidates who seek public office in jurisdictions that had 5,000 or more registered voters as of the last general election or in jurisdictions that encompass an entire county are subject to all provisions of the state public disclosure law.

Candidates for some offices are exempt from campaign record keeping and reporting requirements provided they do not expect to receive contributions of $5,000 or more in the aggregate; the list of exempt offices is located in the "Candidates Exempt From Reporting" section. A candidate who expects to receive or receives contributions of $5,000 or more in the aggregate may not choose mini reporting.

A person subject to the state public disclosure law becomes a candidate (and must begin reporting campaign activity) at the time he or she first does any one of the following:

- receives contributions or makes campaign-related expenditures;
- reserves space or facilities to promote his or her candidacy;
- purchases commercial advertising space or broadcast time to promote his or her candidacy;
- gives consent to another person to do any of the above actions on his/her behalf;
- publicly announces he or she is seeking office (even if this candidacy is conditioned on a future occurrence, like the outcome of polling, the receipt of a certain level of campaign funding or other indications of significant public support); or
- officially files for office.

Candidates who only use their own funds and do not accept contributions from others to conduct their campaigns must still keep records and file disclosure reports.

Any candidate who receives or expects to receive contributions of $5,000 or more in the aggregate must register with the PDC and report campaign contributions and expenditures.

Expects to receive means that:

- The candidate or candidate's committee receives contributions totaling at least $5,000 – this includes contributions from the candidate;
- The candidate is seeking the same office last sought and contributions for the last campaign totaled $5,000 or more;
- Contributions received total $1,250 or more by March 31 of the election year;
- Contributions received total $2,500 or more by June 30 of the election year;
- Contributions received total $3,750 or more by Sept. 30 of the election year; or
- The candidate anticipates that $5,000 or more will be received during the election cycle.

A candidate is limited to one campaign committee. However, a candidate may also participate in a committee organized to support a slate of candidates and in joint fund raising efforts. See Joint Fund Raising and "Slate" Committees on page 36.

Candidates Exempt From Reporting

Candidates seeking election to the following offices are exempt from the record keeping and reporting requirements of the state public disclosure law:

- Precinct committee officer;
- Federal office (subject only to federal campaign laws);
- Offices in a city or other jurisdiction that had fewer than 5,000 registered voters as of the last general election and that does not encompass an entire county, provided that the candidate does not receive or expect to receive contributions totaling more than $5,000 over the course of the entire campaign;*
- Offices for which voters must have special qualifications not specified in the State Constitution (such as owning property). Examples include the following districts:

Agricultural Pest Control	Irrigation
Cemetery	Irrigation and Reclamation
Diking	Irrigation and Rehabilitation
Drainage	Mosquito Control
Education Service	Public Waterway
Flood Control	Sewer Improvement
Intercounty Weed	Weed

*Candidates in towns or districts that had 1,000 or more registered voters as of the last general election are required to file Statements of Financial Affairs -- PDC Form F-1.

NOTE: All candidates for state, local, or judicial office must still adhere to the law and rules governing political advertising and the prohibition against using public equipment or other resources to support or oppose a candidate or ballot measure regardless of whether they are exempt from the record keeping and reporting requirements of the state public disclosure law.

Political Committees

Washington State political committees that raise and spend money to influence certain elections must register and report in accordance with the Public Disclosure Law. Following adoption of Initiative 134, a political committee (other than a bona fide political party and caucus committee) may receive unlimited contributions from its donors, but is limited in the amount it may give to candidates for state office, to bona fide political party committees and to legislative caucus committees. There is a separate PDC instruction manual for political committees that raise and spend over $5,000 or accept more than $500 from one source that discusses registering, reporting, and I-134 restrictions in detail.

A political committee is any person, group, club or organization (except a candidate or individual dealing with his or her own funds) expecting to receive contributions or make expenditures in support of or in opposition to any candidate or ballot proposition. Although a group may be a civic, social or professional organization primarily, it also may be a political committee if it accepts contributions specifically for use in election campaigns.

In addition, any group expecting to receive or spend funds to assist its efforts to have an annexation or incorporation issue placed on the ballot is a political committee and must register and report accordingly. Deciding to hire a lawyer to assist with getting an annexation or incorporation issue on the ballot triggers committee status for a new committee and any legal costs incurred would be reportable campaign expenditures.

Political committees typically spend money to: support or oppose candidates; support or oppose any levy, referendum, initiative, recall or other ballot proposition; and/or make contributions to candidates or other committees.

A political committee is exempt from reporting if its sole purpose is to support or oppose a local ballot measure in a town or district that had fewer than 1,000 registered voters as of the last general election. Exempt committees must still comply with the legal provisions governing political advertising and the prohibition against using public resources to support or oppose any election campaign.

If a committee has chosen the full reporting option and does not dissolve, pay all outstanding debts and dispose of any surplus money as of the report filed the 10th of the first month following the election, it must continue to file reports until the campaign account has a zero balance and all debts are paid.

Continuing political committees are those committees that are organized for more than one election season. Examples include business or labor committees and other on-going PACs. Continuing political committees are subject to the same general requirements as committees organized for one election only. The major difference between the two is that continuing political committees keep books on a calendar year basis, while other committees maintain their books for the duration of the campaign.

Contribution Limits: No PAC, political committee or continuing political committee (except bona fide political parties and caucus committees) may contribute more than the following amounts to these recipients:

State Executive Candidate	$1,600 in primary $1,600 in general
State Legislative Candidate	$800 in primary $800 in general
Judicial Candidates	$1,600 in primary $1,600 in general
Clark, King, Pierce, Snohomish, or Spokane County* Office Candidate	$800 in primary $800 in general
Port of Tacoma or Seattle* Commissioner Candidate	$1,600 in primary $1,600 in general
Major or Minor State Political Party Committee	$4,000 per year to non-exempt account
County Central Committee	$4,000 per year to non-exempt account
Legislative District Committee	$4,000 per year to non-exempt account
Legislative Caucus Committee	$800 per year
Ballot Proposition Committee	No State Limit*

*Any other Local Candidate – No State Limit. County office candidates and port commissioner candidates are subject to limit only if there were more than 200,000 registered voters in the jurisdiction as of last general election.

Candidates seeking a City of Kirkland or City of Seattle office are subject to a local ordinance limiting contributions. Other jurisdictions may have imposed their own limits. Check with the county auditor, city clerk, or the city/county elections commission to verify if a particular candidate is subject to local contribution limits.

There's an additional restriction on contributions given during the 21 days immediately before the General Election that has no impact on a candidate or political committee who selects the Mini Reporting option. During the 21 days before the general election, no candidate for statewide office may accept aggregate contributions of more than $50,000 from any contributor eligible to give that much. Similarly, candidates for other offices may not accept contributions totaling more than $5,000 from any eligible contributor during this three-week period. These limitations do not apply to contributions accepted from the state committee of a major political party or from a minor party.

Bona Fide Political Party and Caucus Committees

Since December 3, 1992, the effective date of Initiative 134, new privileges and obligations were granted bona fide political party committees and caucus political committees that are not shared by other political committees or continuing political committees. Bona fide political party and caucus political committees are now restricted in the amount of contributions they may accept from many donors, but they are allowed to contribute more to candidates than are their PAC counterparts.

There will be a separate PDC instruction manual available for bona fide political party and caucus committees using full reporting. However, it must be emphasized that not all committees that consider themselves political party organizations (e.g., Mens and Womens political clubs, Young Democrats or Republicans, and the like) fit the legal definition of "bona fide political party." As such, these tangential party clubs and organizations must follow the directives governing continuing political committees.

Reporting Options

All candidates who are not exempt from reporting must select a reporting option. That choice will be guided by the amount of money a candidate intends to raise and spend on his or her campaign.

Regardless of which option outlined below is chosen, all candidates and political committees must keep accurate, detailed records and make these records available for public inspection during the eight days preceding the primary, general or special election in which they're participating.

Mini Reporting: This reporting option is only available to candidates who will raise and spend no more than $5,000, in addition to the amount spent on their filing fee, and who will receive no more than $500 from any one contributor other than themselves. Filing fees paid for by political party committees are also exempt from the $500 contribution limit threshold. Candidates choosing mini reporting must file the candidate registration statement (the C-1 form) and keep records of their contributions and expenditures. However, they do not need to file contribution and expenditure reports. A Personal Financial Affairs Statement (F-1) is required. See Mini Reporting Instructions.

Full Reporting: All candidates raising and spending over $5,000 on their campaigns or who wish to receive more than $500 from any contributor, other than the candidate's own funds, must use the full reporting method. Full reporting filers will submit frequent, detailed reports of the contributions they receive (C-3 reports) and the expenditures they make (C-4 reports with various schedules). The C-4 is used to summarize the campaign's financial activity. A Personal Financial Affairs Statement (F-1) is also required.

Changing Reporting Options:

From mini reporting to full reporting. The Public Disclosure Commission realizes that candidates are not always able to accurately forecast campaign costs and may need to switch to a different reporting option. Changing from mini to full reporting requires the PDC staff's approval. So long as a completed application for changing options is received at least 30 business days before the election, the application will be approved.

In order to change from one reporting option to another, a candidate must notify all opponents in writing of the change (certified mail is suggested) and send the following documents to the PDC's executive director:

- a statement that verifies you have notified each opposing candidate or committee in writing of your plan to change reporting options;
- an amended registration statement (PDC form C-1) indicating the new reporting option; and
- PDC forms C-3 and C-4 with relevant schedules and attachments disclosing all contributions and expenditures from the start of the campaign to the current date.

If a candidate or political committee wishes to change from mini to full reporting and the completed application for changing options is received at the Public Disclosure Commission's office at least 30 business days prior to the election, the application will be approved by the executive director. Approval to change reporting options received on or after 29 business days prior to the election will only be approved under the following circumstances:

- The candidate had filed a registration and commission staff failed to notify candidates of the ability to change options at least 40 business days prior to the election;
- A write-in opponent has filed for office within 30 business days of the election;
- An independent expenditure is made in support of the applicant's opponent or in opposition to the applicant within 30 business days of the election;
- A candidate's opponent has been approved to change reporting options; or
- A political committee on one side of an election campaign or proposition has opposition who received approval to change reporting options.

From full reporting to mini reporting. If a candidate wishes to change from full to mini reporting, no prior PDC approval is necessary. Simply amend the candidate registration statement (PDC form C-1) indicating the new option.

Requests for Reporting Modifications

The Public Disclosure Commission may suspend or modify the reporting requirements of persons subject to the disclosure law if it decides that the law works a "manifestly unreasonable hardship" on the filer and the modification "will not frustrate the purposes" of the law. If a candidate believes his or her circumstances meet these two statutory tests and is able to provide convincing arguments to that effect, the candidate has the option of requesting the Commission to grant a reporting modification.

The most common type of reporting modification requests that the Commission receives involves the Personal Financial Affairs Statement. These requests typically come from people who are partners in or owners of a business who would face a competitive disadvantage by disclosing the names of their business customers. The Commission has developed an application form that must be completed by any one who wishes to request modification from reporting any of his or her personal financial affairs. Access the form at <http://www.pdc.wa.gov/filers/appointed/forms.aspx> or call the commission staff to request a blank form. The application should be submitted to the Commission along with the Personal Financial Affairs Statement that has been completed, except for the section covered by the reporting modification request.

To apply for a modification that does not involve the Personal Financial Affairs Statement, write the Commission a letter stating all the reasons why reporting the required information would cause a hardship, why the purposes of disclosure would not be frustrated, and suggest a modification that would relieve the hardship.

A hearing will be scheduled to consider the request. It's best if the candidate attends the hearing, but his or her presence is not required. A modification may only be granted for one year or the duration of one campaign.

PDC Inquiries and Audits

PDC staff may contact your campaign advising you that a report is missing or incomplete, asking for clarification of a report or requesting more information. Please cooperate with these informal contacts and supply the requested information promptly.

Random audits of some campaigns may occur after each election. Some of these are in-depth and you will be asked to make available all your records, including receipts and other documentation. These audits are routine and we suggest you approach them matter of factly.

Audits also are conducted for cause because a complaint has been received or there is reason to believe disclosure reports are not accurate. If you are the subject of such an audit, be assured you will have every opportunity to explain your position.

Prohibitions and Restrictions

State and federal law impose certain prohibitions and restrictions on candidates and political committees. Carefully study -- and adhere to -- the information provided below.

Concealment [RCW 42.17.120]

You must accurately record and report the actual sources and amounts of contributions received as well as the true recipients and amounts of expenditures. It is a violation of the law to use a fictitious name, no name or substitute name in order to conceal the truth.

Persons Prohibited from Making Contributions

None of the prohibitions noted in this prohibited contributions section is administered by the Public Disclosure Commission. If you have questions about whether one or more of the prohibitions apply to contributions you have received, consult your legal counsel or contact the agency involved.

Foreign Nationals: Federal election law prohibits all candidates and political committees in this country from receiving contributions from foreign nationals (individuals, corporations, associations or other foreign business entities.)

However, individuals having "green cards" may contribute to elections in the United States. And, individuals, whether or not they have green cards, may generally volunteer their personal services to campaigns so long as they are not being paid by anyone for the volunteer work they do.

Contact the Federal Election Commission (FEC) for more information on this issue (800/424-9530).

Federal Banks and Other Corporations: Federally chartered banks, corporations, unions, insurance companies and federal contractors should consult their legal advisors to determine whether other state or federal statutes prohibit their making contributions.

Judicial Officials and Candidates: The Code of Judicial Conduct restricts the activity of both judges and candidates for judicial office. The Commission on Judicial Conduct is charged with investigating alleged violations of the Code, and can be contacted at PO Box 1817, Olympia, WA 98507-1817 or (360) 753-4585. The Commission on Judicial Conduct cannot provide advisory opinions. These opinions are available from the Ethics Advisory Committee of the Office of the Administrator of the Courts at PO Box 41174, Olympia, WA 98504-1174.

Contributing to Others [RCW 42.17.095(8)]

No candidate or candidate's authorized committee is allowed to transfer campaign funds (or items or services purchased with campaign funds) to any other candidate or political committee, unless a candidate is legally transferring surplus funds to a bona fide political party or a caucus political committee.

However, one candidate may reimburse another candidate or committee for his or her share of a documented and properly reported joint fund raising campaign expense. A candidate's campaign may also buy campaign-related goods and services from another candidate or political committee so long as the campaign pays the fair market value.

Personal Use of Contributions [RCW 42.17.125]

Any expenditure of a candidate's campaign funds that is not directly related to the candidate's election campaign is a prohibited personal use of campaign funds. This means that campaign contributions may not be used to defray non-reimbursed public office related expenses, charitable donations, club memberships, newspaper subscriptions, constituent gifts and entertainment as well as other miscellaneous expenses that are not directly related to a candidate's campaign. (Public officials may establish a "Surplus Funds Account" to pay for non-reimbursed public office related expenses. See Surplus Funds Accounts on page 35.)

According to statute, campaign contributions may only be spent for the personal use of the candidate, the treasurer or other person associated with the campaign under the following circumstances:

- reimbursements to cover earnings lost as a result of campaigning, including reimbursements for loans taken out to cover lost earnings;
- reimbursements for services performed for the campaign;
- reimbursements for direct out-of-pocket campaign or post-election campaign expenses; and
- repayment of loans made by a person to the campaign. Repayment of loans made by the candidate to his or her campaign is subject to limit.

Complete documentation of these types of payments must be kept. Documentation of lost-earnings payments would include copies of pay stubs reflecting what the person would have been paid had he or she been working at his or her regular job.

Documentation of out-of-pocket expenses is either a detailed list of the date, vendor, purpose and amount of each expense, with actual receipts kept by the committee, or submission of copies of the receipts. No reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses may be made to a person without a receipt being provided to the campaign.

Transmitting Contributions (Bundling) [RCW 42.17.730]

Only an individual is permitted to collect contributions from others and transmit them to the intended recipient. Political committees, businesses, unions, and organizations -- or people representing them -- are prohibited from collecting contributions from various sources (commonly known as bundling) and delivering or transmitting those bundled contributions to a candidate or political committee.

With respect to the legal bundling undertaken by individuals, unless the collected contributions are from the individual's employer, immediate family or an association to which the individual belongs, when delivering the contributions to the candidate's campaign, the individual must supply the following information:

The individual's full name, street address, occupation, name of employer or, if self-employed, place of business and the same information for each person or entity for which a contribution is being transmitted.

Reimbursement of Contributions [RCW 42.17.780]

No one may directly or indirectly reimburse another person or entity for a contribution to a candidate, political committee or political party.

Use of Contributions for Different Office [RCW 42.17.790]

Ending a campaign before the election is held in order to campaign for a different office: A candidate who solicits contributions for one office may not use those contributions to seek a different office without first obtaining written approval of the persons or entities who donated the contributions. In other words, if a candidate decides to run for county executive after registering and collecting money for a county council race, the candidate may not transfer any contributions to the county executive campaign without first getting written approval from the contributors of the monetary contributions remaining in the county council campaign account and from contributors of the in-kind contributions still being used by the campaign (e.g., donated computers, copiers, etc.).

To identify the donors of the remaining funds, start with your most recent contribution, then the next most recent, etc., until you can attach names to all of the contributions remaining in the campaign you are ending. Contact all of these contributors. With their written approval, you may move their funds from the first campaign account to the new account. If someone does not send written approval, that contributor's donation may NOT be used for the new campaign and must be disposed of under one of the other permissible uses of surplus campaign funds, as discussed below.

Each contribution that is transferred from the first campaign to the new campaign is attributed to the contributor and counts against that contributor's limit if the candidate is running for an office subject to state contribution limits.

Surplus Funds: A candidate who wants to use surplus contributions from a previous campaign to seek an office different from the one for which the donations were collected also must obtain written approval to do so from the contributors of the donations that are left. This is true whether 1) the contributions were in-kind [e.g., donated equipment that is left over from the previous campaign], 2) the surplus monies remain in a bank account from the earlier campaign, or 3) the surplus was transferred into a Surplus Funds Account.

The contribution of any contributor who does not provide written approval to use a monetary or in-kind donation to seek a different office may not be used for that purpose and must be disposed of under the options set out in RCW 42.17.095 for disposing of surplus funds.

Disposing of Surplus Campaign Funds [RCW 42.17.095]

Surplus campaign funds -- the balance of contributions given with respect to an election that remain after all outstanding obligations for that election are paid -- may only be disposed of in one or more of the following ways:

- 1) returned to contributors [so long as the amount returned to a donor does not exceed the aggregate contributed];
- 2) transferred without limit to a political party or caucus political committee;

- 3) held for use in a future campaign for election to the same office last sought (or a different office, if written approval from the contributors of the remaining funds is obtained);
- 4) transferred to the candidate's personal account as payment for earnings lost as a result of campaigning, so long as the lost earnings can be documented, the payment does not exceed what the candidate would have otherwise earned, and all payments are properly recorded and reported;
- 5) donated to a charitable organization registered with the Secretary of State in accordance with RCW 19.09;
- 6) transmitted to the state treasurer for deposit in the general fund, the oral history, state library, and archives account under RCW 43.07.380, or the legislative international trade account under RCW 44.04.270, as specified by the candidate or political committee; or
- 7) deposited into a separate Surplus Funds Account and used to pay non-reimbursed public office related expenses and for any of the six purposes discussed above. See page 35 for more information on Surplus Funds Accounts.

Ending a Campaign Before the Election is Held

Occasionally, a candidate will register a campaign with the Public Disclosure Commission, accept contributions, and decide to end the campaign before the election is held. Follow these steps to dispose of remaining campaign funds when the campaign ends prematurely:

- Determine what contributions remain in the campaign account using the “first in, first out” method (i.e., starting with the most recent contributions received, determine which contributions remain unspent in the campaign account).
- Immediately return any unspent general election contributions if the campaign ends before the primary election date.
- Primary election contributions can be - returned to the contributor before the primary election date or
 - held in the campaign account until after the primary is held at which time they become surplus funds. Authorized uses of surplus funds can be found on page 8.

A candidate who prematurely ends a campaign in order to start a campaign for a different office may not automatically transfer remaining campaign funds to the new campaign. See “Use of Contributions for a Different Office” on page 9.

Use of Public Facilities [RCW 42.17.130]

Elected and appointed officials as well as other public employees are prohibited from using or authorizing the use of any facilities of a public office or agency, directly or indirectly, to assist a candidate's election campaign or to promote or oppose a ballot proposition. Public agency facilities include, but are not limited to, office stationery, postage, machines, equipment, employees during working hours, vehicles, office space, office publications and client lists.

The above restriction does not apply to:

- action taken at an open public meeting by members of an elected legislative body or an elected board, council, or commission of a special purpose district to express a collective decision, or to actually vote upon a motion, proposal, resolution, order, or ordinance, or to support or oppose a ballot proposition so long as any required notice of the meeting includes the title and number of the ballot proposition, and members of the legislative body or members of the public are afforded an approximately equal opportunity for the expression of an opposing view;
- a statement by an elected official in support of or in opposition to any ballot proposition at any open press conference or in response to a specific inquiry; and

- activities that are part of the normal and regular conduct of the office or agency. "Normal and regular" has been interpreted to mean those activities that are authorized by law and are customary for the agency.

Anonymous Contributions [RCW 42.17.060(4)]

Occasionally, campaigns receive funds from truly anonymous sources; that is, no one involved in the campaign knows who donated the money. Up to a point, the law allows campaigns to keep these anonymous contributions.

Specifically, candidates may receive as much as $300 or one percent of the total contributions received in a calendar year, whichever is greater. (The one percent won't come into play until the campaign receives over $30,000 in contributions during a calendar year.)

If the maximum is reached, the campaign may not use or spend any additional anonymous funds received. These excess dollars must be returned to the donors if they can be identified or forfeited to the state's general fund.

If the contributors cannot be identified, immediately send a check to PDC payable to the State Treasurer in the amount of the overage, along with an explanation of the circumstances surrounding receipt of excess anonymous funds.

Campaigns may not legally use the anonymous contribution provision to avoid identifying contributors whose identities are known. Only contributors who either give a total of $25 or less in the aggregate or who give in conjunction with a low-cost fundraiser need not be identified on contribution reports. Low-cost fundraisers are discussed on page 30.

Contributions From Out-of-State & Federal PACs [RCW 42.17.093]

An out-of-state political committee not registered with PDC (that is, PACs in other states organized for the purpose of supporting or opposing candidates or ballot propositions) must file a C-5 report no later than the 20th day of the month following any month in which a contribution or other expenditure of more than $50 is made to or on behalf of a Washington state candidate or political committee. After filing an initial C-5 report, subsequent reports during the same calendar year shall be filed updating or amending the information previously reported.

Expenditure Restriction [RCW 42.17.070]

According to state law, no expenditure may legally be made unless it's authorized by the candidate or a person named on the candidate's C-1 registration. Campaign treasurers are also required to maintain a complete record of all expenditures, including obligations that have not yet been paid by the campaign.

If the campaign makes expenditures of over $50 in cash, rather than by check, a receipt signed by the vendor and the treasurer or candidate must be obtained and kept as part of the records.

Monetary Contributions [RCW 42.17.740]

All monetary contributions received from PACs, political parties and caucus political committees must be by written instrument (e.g., check, money order, cashiers check). Those from individuals, associations, unions or businesses must be by written instrument if the contribution is over $80. Cash contributions must be deposited into the campaign bank account, and not spent directly or mingled with petty cash. All monetary contributions, including those in cash, are required to be deposited into the campaign account within five business days of receipt.

Soliciting Government Employees [RCW 42.17.750]

State and local elected officials (and their agents) may not knowingly solicit, directly or indirectly, a contribution to a candidate, political party or other political committee from an employee in the official's agency.

In March of 1996, the Commission discussed the issue of "knowingly solicit" and determined that an official who obtains a general, broadly-based mailing list from a vendor (including lists purchased at fair market value from other candidates or committees) need not scrutinize that list for the names of employees in the official's agency prior to using it to solicit campaign contributions. For example, if an official obtains from the county elections office a list of persons who have consistently voted in local elections, the official could use this list to solicit contributions without being in violation of the law.

However, if a list were not broadly-based (for instance, it originally came from a city employee union), the official would be in jeopardy of violating the law if he or she uses the list to solicit contributions and it contains the names of persons who are employed by the official's agency. Similarly, if an official uses a list of contributors from his or her last campaign to solicit funds and is aware that this list includes names of current agency employees, those names known to the official must be removed.

Charging for Endorsement or Media Coverage [RCW 42.17.770]

No person may solicit a candidate, political committee, political party or other person for money in exchange for an endorsement or an article in the news media supporting or opposing a candidate, committee or party.

Public Inspection of Campaign Records

During the eight days preceding a primary, general or special election, the campaign's books of account showing all contributions received, expenditures made and outstanding debts must be current within one business day. Further, they must be open for public inspection by anyone who wants to see them. These books must be available for inspection on weekdays beginning on the eighth day before the election (excluding legal holidays) by appointment between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. at the location designated by the campaign on the registration statement (C-1). An appointment must be allowed within twenty-four hours of the request.

If a candidate has selected Mini reporting and opted to use his or her personal checking account for campaign activity, then he or she has to make the check register and other records of the personal account available for public inspection.

The separate list of contributors giving $25 or less does not need to be included with the records open for public inspection.

However, all other "books of account" of the campaign must be current within one business day and be made available for public inspection. The campaign books include its checkbook register and any ledgers, journals or lists identifying contributors (and the date and amount each has given) as well as books showing any outstanding debts (including loans and orders placed but not yet paid). If these types of books are not kept, the campaign is expected to make available the documents that are customarily used to create these books of account; that is, the receipts, invoices, copies of contribution checks, notes or documents regarding orders placed or loans, etc.

If the campaign books are kept on computer, any person wanting to see the books must be given sufficient instruction to enable him or her to examine these books. The campaign is not required to make copies of its books, whether the books are kept on paper or in electronic form.

Bank Accounts

You must open a bank account at the start of the campaign if you are going to accept contributions. Use the same name for your campaign account as you use for the candidate's committee.

Campaign accounts may be established in a bank, mutual savings bank, savings and loan association or credit union doing business in Washington State. Candidates seeking offices with single-county jurisdiction may only maintain one campaign checking account. Although candidates conducting campaigns in more than one county may establish a bank account in each county, it's not recommended that you do this because of the problems inherent in tracking and combining the activity of multiple accounts for the purpose of filing the campaign's disclosure reports.

Obtain a tax ID # from the IRS before opening the campaign bank account.

When opening the account, you'll be asked to supply a federal tax identification number. The Internal Revenue Service issues tax ID numbers; application are accepted online, by phone, by fax, or by mail. According to information found at www.irs.wa.gov, tax ID numbers are issued immediately to those who apply online or by phone while applications received by fax or U.S. mail take up to four weeks to process.

-  Apply online at <http://www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id=102767,00.html>;
-  Call 1-800-829-4933 to apply by telephone;
-  Fax a completed IRS SS-4¹ form to (859) 669-5760 or
-  Mail the completed SS-4¹ form to IRS, Attn: EIN Operation, Cincinnati, OH 45999.

The bank will report any interest earned on the campaign account to the IRS using the tax number you provide. Consult the IRS, your accountant or tax advisor regarding any tax liability or requirement to file a tax return. PDC may not give tax-related advice or information. However, see page 51 for information about investing campaign funds.

Bank Deposits

Each contribution received by the campaign must be deposited within five business days of receipt.

This means each campaign can make a weekly deposit and be in compliance with the law.

Each time you make a bank deposit, prepare a Cash Receipts & Monetary Contributions Report (C-3). C-3 reports are filed each time a C-4 report is filed through May of the election year. Starting on June 1 of the election year, file the C-3 report on the first Monday after the deposit is made.

Deposit each contribution within five (5) business days of receipt.

Once the weekly filing of C-3 reports begins, DO NOT also send copies of these same C-3 reports with your C-4 reports.

After the election, C-3 reports are filed with a C-4 report.

Political Advertising

"Political advertising" includes any advertising displays, newspaper ads, billboards, signs, brochures, articles, tabloids, flyers, letters, radio or television presentations, or other means of mass communication, used for the purpose of appealing, directly or indirectly, for votes or for financial or other support in any election campaign. [RCW 42.17.020(32)]

This legal definition makes it clear that any communication -- whether written, audio or video -- that is produced and/or distributed in conjunction with your campaign is probably subject to the requirements governing political advertising.

The candidate's political party preference must be included in political advertising if the candidate is running for a partisan office and most ads must show the sponsor ID. See below for details.

Political Party Preference

All political ads supporting or opposing a candidate for partisan office are required to identify the candidate's party preference.

This rule applies whether the sponsor is a candidate, a candidate's committee, another political committee, an individual, or an organization or other type of entity, acting with the knowledge of, or independent of, the candidate. Abbreviations for many party names have been approved by the Commission and may be used in lieu of fully spelling out the party name. The abbreviations are:

- Citizens -- Cit
- Communist -- Com
- Democrat -- D, Dem, Demo
- Independent or Unaffiliated -- Ind, Indep
- Libertarian -- L, LP, LBT, LBTN
- Progressive -- P, PP, Prog
- Republican -- GOP, R, Repub, Rep (Do not use Rep abbreviation when it could erroneously imply that the candidate holds the office of State Representative)
- Socialist -- Soc
- Socialist Workers -- Soc Workers, SWP

Official symbols or logos adopted by state party committees may be used in place of the full party name or abbreviation to denote candidate's party preference.

Sponsor Identification

The sponsor of a political ad -- the candidate, committee or other person paying for the ad -- usually must be identified. If a person acts as an agent for someone else or is reimbursed by the committee for the funds actually used to pay for the ad, the original source of the payment (or the person doing the reimbursing) is the sponsor. It's illegal to use an assumed name when identifying an ad's sponsor.

However, if one or more persons purchase advertising supporting a candidate (or opposing that candidate's opponent) after consulting with or receiving the approval of the candidate, the candidate's campaign or agent, then the advertising is an in-kind contribution to the campaign (that must be reported by the candidate on Schedule B to the C-4) and the ad may show the sponsor as being either 1) the person or persons who purchased the ad or 2) the candidate or his/her campaign.

Some items are considered too impractical to show the sponsor ID. A list of those items is provided on page 16.

In print ads (newspaper display ads, flyers, brochures, letters, etc.) and ads distributed electronically via computer, to identify the sponsor use the words "Paid for by" or "Sponsored by" followed by the name and full postal mailing address (through zip code) of the sponsor(s). Treasurer's name is not required. Identification on an envelope used only for mailing purposes is optional, but is not sufficient to meet the sponsor ID requirement. The advertising enclosed in the envelope must be properly identified.

In broadcast ads (radio and television ads), identify the sponsor by using the words "Paid for by" or "Sponsored by" followed by the name of the person or group paying for the ad. No address is required. Both the sponsor ID and candidate's party preference must be clearly spoken.

If the sponsor is:

a candidate, show the name and address of the candidate or the candidate's committee (No address if broadcast ad); a political committee,* show the name and address of the committee (No address if broadcast ad; treasurer's name is not required);

an organization or business,* show the name and address of the organization or business (No address if broadcast ad; treasurer's name is not required); more than one person or group,* show the name and address of each sponsor. (No address if broadcast ad.) If one person pays for printing and another person pays for mailing, list both as sponsors.

If a person contributes cash, goods or services to the campaign in order to assist in paying for an ad, it is not necessary to show this contributor's name as a sponsor, provided the contribution is properly reported. The candidate or the candidate's committee must be identified as the sponsor, however.

[*Note: Advertising that qualifies as an "independent expenditure" is subject to different sponsor ID requirements, unless the sponsor is a political party. See Independent Expenditures & Electioneering Communications on page 17.]

Effect of US Supreme Court Decision in McIntyre v. Ohio Elections Commission. In June of 1995, the Commission found that there is a narrow set of circumstances under which it will not enforce the sponsor identification section of the law, RCW 42.17.510(1). As such, the sponsor's name and address may be left off of a political ad that meets ALL of the following criteria:

- The sponsor is an individual acting on his or her own behalf and independently of any candidate or authorized committee, political committee, bona fide political party or party organization, caucus political committee or any corporation, union, business, association, or other organization or entity.
- The sponsor personally produces and distributes the ad (or pays for it to be produced or distributed from personal funds) and he or she receives no donations, contributions or other payments from others for the production and distribution of the ad;
- The ad supports or opposes a state-wide or local ballot proposition (not a candidate);
- The ad costs less than $100 total to produce and distribute; and
- The ad is in writing (e.g., letter, flyer, etc.) but does not appear in a newspaper or other publication and is not communicated electronically.

ID Size and Placement

On written or printed political advertising, the sponsor's name and address and the candidate's party preference (if the candidate is seeking partisan office) must:

- appear on the first page of the communication in at least 10 point type; or
- for ads such as billboards or posters, appear in type at least 10% of the largest size type used in the ad; and
- not be screened or half-toned (i.e., not made lighter through some printing or photographic process); and
- be set apart from any other printed text in the ad.

Items Exempt From Sponsor ID

Some advertising items, like yard signs that are 8'x 4' or smaller (32 sq. feet), need not include the sponsor identification. Other items exempt from sponsor ID are:

ashtrays	magnifying glasses
badges & badge holders	matchbooks
balloons	nail clippers & files
bingo chips	newspaper ads (one column inch or smaller)
brushes	noisemakers
bumper stickers (4" x 15" or smaller)	official state or local voter pamphlets business cards	paper & plastic cups and plates buttons	paper weights
cigarette lighters	pencils
clothes pins	pens
clothing	plastic tableware
coasters	pocket protectors
combs	pot holders
cups	reader boards with moveable letters
earrings	ribbons
emery boards	rulers (12" or smaller)
envelopes	shoe horns
erasers	skywriting
frisbees	staple removers
glasses	stickers (2-3/4" or 1" or smaller)
golf balls & tees	sun glasses
hand-held signs	sun visors
hats	swizzle sticks
horns	tickets to fund raisers
ice scrapers	water towers
inscriptions	whistles
key rings	yard signs (8' x 4' or smaller)
knives	yo-yos
labels	all similar items letter openers

Content of Advertising

There are some additional rules to follow when composing political advertising:

- Be sure that the ad correctly identifies the sponsor and is truthful;
- If candidate photos are used in any ad, at least one of them must have been taken within the last five years and be no smaller than the largest candidate photo appearing in the ad.
- "Incumbent" means a person who now holds an elected office;
- "Re-elect" represents that the candidate is presently holding the office being sought, was elected to it and is seeking another term in that same office.
- The term "re-elect" may be used in a political ad by a non-incumbent who has previously been elected to the office being sought provided that it is clearly stated in the same ad that the candidate is not the incumbent;
- "Retain" represents that the candidate is the incumbent, but does not imply that the candidate obtained the position by election;

- “Return” represents that the candidate now holds, or has previously held, the office being sought but not necessarily by election.

State law does not require candidates to identify the office or position they are seeking in their advertising.

Violations

It is illegal to sponsor an ad, with actual malice, that contains a statement constituting libel or defamation per se¹ if:

- it is a false statement of material fact about a candidate for public office (unless a candidate is making a statement about him or herself or if the statement is made by the candidate’s agent about the candidate)²,
- it falsely represents that a candidate is an incumbent³, or
- it directly or indirectly implies a candidate has the support or endorsement of any person or organization when the candidates does not (unless the statement is made by the person or organization)⁴.

It is also illegal to:

- distribute campaign material that is deceptively similar in design or appearance to the voters and candidates’ pamphlets published by the Secretary of State,
- Use the state seal or its likeness to assist or defeat any candidate for elective office, or
- Use an assumed name when identifying the sponsor.

Political Advertising Check List

When developing and proofreading political ads, be sure they are:

- ✓ properly identified with sponsor ID and, if necessary, the candidate’s political party preference;
- ✓ truthful;
- ✓ in compliance with the definitions of “incumbent,” “re-elect,” “retain,” and “return;”
- ✓ accurate with respect to claimed or implied endorsements;
- ✓ not representing the candidate as the incumbent unless he or she is; and
- ✓ not deceptively similar to official voters and candidates pamphlets.

¹ “Libel or defamation per se” are statements that tend

- to expose a living person to hatred, contempt, ridicule, or obloquy [censure, blame, or abusive language aimed at a person or thing, especially by numerous persons or by the general public; discredit, disgrace, or bad repute resulting from public blame, abuse, or denunciation] , or to deprive the person of the benefit of public confidence or social intercourse;
- or to injure any person, corporation, or association in his, her, or its business or occupation.

² A false statement of material fact exposes the candidate to contempt, ridicule, or reproach and can deprive the candidate of the benefit of public confidence, or prejudice him or her in his or her profession, trade, or vocation.

³ A statement falsely representing that a candidate is the incumbent for the office sought deprives the actual incumbent and the candidates of the benefit of public confidence and injures the actual incumbent in the ability to effectively serve as an elected official.

⁴ A false claim of endorsement deprives the person or organization of the benefit of public confidence and/or will expose the person or organization to contempt, ridicule, or reproach, or injure the person or organization in their business or occupation.

Independent Expenditures & Electioneering Communications

Independent expenditures and expenditures for electioneering communications are important because they are a constitutionally protected form of speech and may not be subject to limit, unlike contributions. Therefore, as long as an expenditure does not constitute a "contribution," the person making it is free to spend as much or as little as he or she likes.

Definition of Independent Expenditure. For most applications in the disclosure law, an independent expenditure is defined to be an expenditure for political advertising that:

- costs at least $800 (either alone or in conjunction with other ads by the same sponsor benefiting the same candidate);
- supports or opposes a clearly identified candidate for state or local office;
- is paid for by someone other than a candidate, a candidate's committee or agent; and
- is paid for by some individual or entity who undertakes the advertising without having received the benefiting candidate's encouragement or approval or without collaborating with this candidate or the candidate's agent.

Be aware that if an expenditure meets the legal definition of "contribution," it is subject to limit and it is not considered an independent expenditure. The definition of "contribution" is found in RCW 42.17.020 and WAC 390-05-210. For this discussion of independent expenditures, it is particularly important to keep in mind that a contribution includes:

- an expenditure made by a person in cooperation, consultation, or concert with, or at the request or suggestion of, a candidate, the candidate's authorized committee or their agents; or
- paying to disseminate, distribute, or republish -- partially or completely -- a political ad prepared by a candidate, the candidate's authorized committee or other agent, regardless of whether the ad is written, broadcast or in some other form.

A person may perform ministerial functions for a candidate and a political committee without jeopardizing the political committee's eligibility to make independent expenditures or electioneering communications regarding that candidate as long as:

- The person performs solely ministerial functions for both the candidate and the political committee;
- The person is identified on both the candidate's and political committee's registration statements as a person performing ministerial functions for the campaign; and
- The person does not share information from or about one of the campaigns with the other campaign, or does not use information from or about one of the campaigns to assist the other campaign.

Ministerial functions are activities carried out as part of the duties of an administrative office without exercise of personal judgment or discretion. Typically, persons performing ministerial functions may, under the supervision of a candidate or committee officer, file PDC reports, make deposits, pay bills, and maintain campaign finance records. However, if a person performs functions for both a candidate and a political committee and those functions for one or both campaigns entail duties beyond those deemed ministerial, any expenditure by the committee benefitting the candidate may be a contribution rather than an independent expenditure or electioneering communication.

In summary, if a candidate wants to avoid compromising someone's ability to make independent expenditures or electioneering communications, neither the candidate, the candidate's committee, nor an agent of the committee may:

- Give the person encouragement, approval or direction regarding an expenditure supporting the candidate or opposing the candidate's opponent;
- Collaborate or coordinate with the person regarding an expenditure that supports the candidate or opposes the candidate's opponent; or
- Provide the person with information about the candidate's plans, projects or needs prior to an expenditure supporting the candidate or opposing the candidate's opponent being made.

[For more information, see RCW 42.17.020(14), (24) and (34), WAC 390-16-313 and WACs 390-05-243 and 390-05-210.]

Definition of Electioneering Communication. Advertising must have all of the following four characteristics in order to qualify as an electioneering communication:

- The communication clearly identifies at least one candidate for state, local, or judicial office;
- appears within 60 days of an election in the candidate's jurisdiction;
- in one or more of the following media – radio, television, postal mailing, billboard, newspaper, or periodical; and
- either alone, or in combination with other communications by the sponsor identifying the candidate, has a fair market value of $5,000 or more.

Sponsor ID. All political advertising undertaken as an independent expenditure or an electioneering communication by any person or entity other than a party organization must include the following statement on the advertising:

"NOTICE TO VOTERS (Required by law): This advertisement is not authorized or approved by any candidate. It is paid for by (name, address, city, state.)"

In addition, if the ad is sponsored by a caucus political committee, a PAC or other political committee (except a party organization), the following must also appear: "Top Five Contributors" followed by a list of the names of the five persons or entities making the largest contributions in excess of $700 to the committee during the 12 months before the ad runs.

If a political committee keeps records tracking contributions according to the use intended by contributors, and subsequently makes independent expenditures supporting or opposing a candidate, that committee may identify the top five contributors giving for that purpose.

Both the "Notice to Voters" and "Top Five Contributors" messages must also comply with the ID size and placement standards discussed above.

For radio ads, the following statement must be clearly spoken, or for television ads, appear in print and be visible for at least four seconds, appear in letters greater than 4% of the visual screen height, and have a reasonable color contrast with the background: "No candidate authorized this ad. Paid for by (name, city, state)." In addition, top five contributor information, as discussed above, is necessary if the ad is sponsored by a political committee required to file with the Public Disclosure Commission.

If independent expenditure advertising is in the form of yard signs, bumper stickers, skywriting or other items exempt from sponsor ID, these ads are also exempt from the Notice to Voters and Top Five Contributors requirements.

Reporting. Independent expenditures (IEs) made by PACs, political parties and caucus political committees are reported by these spenders as part of their regular, periodic C-4 reports. All of these political committees are required to answer a question on their C-4 forms regarding whether or not the report being filed includes any IEs. Expenditures made for electioneering communications by PACs, political parties, and caucus political committees are also reported on the C-4 report. If an advertising expense qualifies both as an independent expenditure and an electioneering communication, it must be reported as an electioneering communication. Please read the following "C-6 Reports" section to determine when additional reporting is required for sponsors of independent expenditures and electioneering communication.

C-6 Reports: The purpose of an independent expenditure as well as its amount determines when the C-6 report must be filed. The next three paragraphs explain the different events that would trigger a C-6 report and when the report is due:

Individuals, unions, businesses, associations and other entities who do not report to the Public Disclosure Commission and who make independent expenditures of $100 or more supporting or opposing a candidate or ballot measure must file a C-6 report with PDC. Copies of these C-6 reports are also filed with the county elections official: the county in which the candidate lives for reports disclosing independent expenditures supporting or opposing candidates and the county in which the spender lives for reports disclosing independent expenditures supporting or opposing ballot measures. The first report is due within 5 days of when the expense is made. This C-6 report may be electronically filed. If subsequent IEs are made, additional reports are required on the same dates that C-4 reports are filed.

Persons sponsoring independent expenditure political ads valued at $1,000 or more that are mailed or otherwise presented to the public within twenty-one days of a primary, general or special election are required to file a C-6 report within 24 hours of, or on the first working day after, the date the advertisement was first mailed or otherwise presented to the public. This C-6 report may be electronically filed. It is not necessary to file a copy of this report with the county elections officer. Additional independent expenditures of any amount following the expenditure listed on the initial filing must be reported within 24 hours. A political committee who sponsors independent expenditure ads reports the expenditures on a C-6 form as well as a C-4 or C-5 report.

All electioneering communications must be reported on a C-6 report electronically filed within 24 hours of, or the first working day after, the communication was first broadcast, mailed, erected, or published. A political committee who makes expenditures for electioneering communications reports the expenditures on a C-6 form as well as a C-4 or C-5 report.

L-2 Reports: If a lobbyist or lobbyist employer sponsors political advertising supporting or opposing a candidate or ballot measure, whether the ad constitutes a contribution, independent expenditure, or electioneering communication, the amount paid for the advertising must be reported by the lobbyist on his or her monthly L-2 lobbying report. This L-2 reporting is in addition to the required C-6 filing.

C-7 Reports: Any business, union, association, organization or other entity -- except a lobbyist employer that files an L-3 report or a political committee that files C-4 reports -- making independent expenditures during a calendar year that total over $800 supporting or opposing state office candidates or statewide ballot measures must file a C-7 (Special Political Expenditures Report). The report is due by the last day of February of the year following the one in which the expenditures were incurred and is in addition to the C-6 filing requirements.

Mailings. Unless the mailing is sponsored by a PAC, party or caucus committee, any person or entity that during one calendar year mails 1,000 identical or nearly identical pieces of advertising supporting or opposing a candidate or ballot measure as an independent expenditure must provide the appropriate county auditor with a copy of the ad and written notice of the number of pieces mailed within two working days of the mailing. If the ad supports or opposes a candidate, the information is filed with elections officials in the county where the candidate lives. Sponsors of mailings supporting or opposing a ballot measure must file the required information with elections officials of their own county of residence, or if sponsors live out-of-state, they file with Thurston County for statewide measures, or with the county or counties where a local ballot measure will appear on the ballot

Part 2. Filing Campaign Reports

Register as a Candidate on a C-1

Candidates who run for public office in jurisdictions that had 5,000 or more registered voters as of the last general election or in jurisdictions covering an entire county are subject to campaign disclosure and must register with PDC on Form C-1 (unless they satisfy one of the exemptions found on page 3).

This registration must be filed within two weeks of becoming a candidate. A person becomes a candidate for disclosure purposes when he or she first does any one of the following:

- receives contributions;
- makes campaign-related expenditures;
- reserves space or purchases advertising to promote his or her candidacy;
- authorizes someone else to do any of these activities on his or her behalf;
- states publicly that he or she is seeking office (even if the candidacy is conditioned on some future occurrence, like receiving endorsements or raising a certain amount);
- files for office.

File the original C-1 with the PDC within 2 weeks of becoming a candidate. The PDC does not accept faxed or e-mailed C-1s. File a copy of the C-1 with the elections officer for the county of the candidate's residence.

It's very common for persons to become candidates for purposes of the Public Disclosure Law well before they officially file for office in June.

Amended C-1 forms must be filed within ten days of any changes that make the previously filed C-1 outdated. Incumbents are to file a new C-1 when they begin a new campaign by raising money (for purposes other than paying off old campaign debts), making expenditures for the upcoming election, reserving space or purchasing advertising to promote their candidacy, authorizing another to do one of these activities for them, publicly announcing their intention to run, or filing for office, whichever occurs first.

After making copies of the C-1 for your files and the County Auditor (Elections Department) of the county in which the candidate lives (and, if necessary, the city clerk), send the signed C-1 to PDC. C-1 forms, like other standard PDC reports, are considered filed as of the postmark date or date hand-delivered to PDC.

Filling Out the C-1 Form

Paper filers, please type or print clearly using black ink. (The reports are scanned into a document imaging system, and black reproduces clearly.)

State the candidate's first name, middle initial, and last name (as it will appear on the ballot). For example, John A. "Jack" Jones or Margaret C. "Maggie" Smith.

Identify the candidate's committee name (e.g., Jones for City Council). See example on page 23.

Give the telephone and facsimile numbers of the campaign's headquarters. This will be the contact numbers used by the press and others to reach the campaign spokesperson. Do NOT give the telephone or fax numbers of a government office.

Item No.	Description
1	Show the office being sought, the district, county or city, the position number and indicate whether the candidate currently holds the office being sought.
2	If you're seeking a partisan office, specify your political party.
3	Give the date of the relevant general or special election.
4	Choose a reporting option after carefully noting the limitations that apply to mini reporting. It is best not to choose mini reporting unless the candidate expects to stay within the respective monetary limits during the entire campaign. If no option is designated candidates are expected to comply with the full reporting requirement.
5	Identify the campaign's treasurer, the person who will be responsible for receiving contributions, making expenditures and keeping accurate, detailed records. A candidate may be his or her own treasurer. (Candidates are ultimately responsible for the accuracy of their records and reports.) Include the treasurer's daytime telephone number. Do NOT reference the telephone of a government office.
6	List the name, address and title of any person who performs only ministerial functions for your campaign and another candidate or political committee. Ministerial functions are activities carried out as part of the duties of an administrative office without exercise of personal judgment or discretion. Typically, persons performing ministerial functions may, under the supervision of a candidate or committee officer, file PDC reports, make deposits, pay bills, and maintain campaign finance records.
7	List the name, address and title of your campaign officers (e.g., chairperson, vice-chair, manager, coordinator and other key people). By definition in rule, "officer" includes anyone designated by the campaign as an officer and any person who alone or in conjunction with other persons makes contribution, expenditure, strategic or policy decisions on behalf of the campaign.
8	Name the financial institution where your campaign account is kept, along with the branch office location and city.
9	If the candidate is affiliated with any joint fund raising committee or a committee organized to support a slate of candidates, give the name and address of the committee(s) and state the relationship.
10	During the eight days before each primary, general or special election in which the candidate is on the ballot or running as a write-in candidate, campaign books of account must be open for public inspection by appointment. Supply the street address and city for where your records may be examined and provide contact information for arranging appointments.
11	The Registration is not considered filed unless signed by the candidate.

Register as a Political Committee on a C-1pc

Political committees must register with the PDC if 1) they support or oppose ballot measures in jurisdictions that had 1,000 or more registered voters as of the last general election or 2) they support or oppose candidates in jurisdictions that include an entire county or had 5,000 or more registered voters as of the last general election.

Most political committees must register within two weeks of forming a committee or expecting to receive or spend funds, whichever occurs first. Committees that form within three weeks of an election and expect to receive contributions and make expenditures with respect to that election must register within three business days of organizing or when it first expects to receive contributions or make campaign expenditures. Amended C-1pc reports are to be filed within ten days of changes that make the previously filed C-1pc outdated.

Continuing political committees using mini reporting must also re-register annually each January in order to keep the mini reporting status. Failure to re-register annually automatically makes the continuing committee subject to the full reporting provisions of the law.

Send the original C-1pc to PDC. Provide a copy to the county elections office of the county in which the committee headquarters is located or, if there is no headquarters, the county in which the treasurer resides. (See page 38 for a list of county election offices.) Keep a copy for your records. C-1pc forms, like other standard PDC reports, are considered filed as of the postmark date or the date hand-delivered to PDC.

File the C-1pc within two weeks of forming a committee. Committees organized within the last three weeks before the election must file the C-1pc within three business days.

Filling Out the C-1pc Form

Paper filers, please type or print clearly using black ink.

Give the committee's complete, official name. Include any acronym in the space provided (for example, "HALT" for Homeowners Against Lofty Taxes). Give the committee's full mailing address. Indicate whether this is a new or amended registration and whether your group is a continuing committee or organized for a specific election only.

Provide the telephone, facsimile numbers and e-mail address of the committee.

Item No. Description

1. Specify the committee's purpose.
2. Give the name, address and relationship to any other committee – including a candidate's – with which your committee is affiliated either structurally, philosophically or for joint fund raising purposes.
3. If you do not specify mini reporting, you're automatically subject to the full reporting requirements.
4. Identify the campaign manager's or media contact's name, address and daytime telephone number.
5. Identify the committee treasurer's name, address and daytime telephone number. This is the person who is ultimately responsible for receiving contributions, making expenditures, keeping accurate, detailed records and filing timely and complete reports.
6. List the name, address and title of any person who performs only ministerial functions for the committee and another candidate or political committee. Ministerial functions are activities carried out as part of the duties of an administrative office without exercise of personal judgment or discretion. Typically, persons performing ministerial functions may, under the supervision of a candidate or committee officer, file PDC reports, make deposits, pay bills, and maintain campaign finance records.

7. List the name, address and title of the committee's chairperson, vice-chair, manager, coordinator and other key people. There is no legal requirement specifying what officers your committee must have, other than a treasurer.
8. Name the financial institution where the political committee's bank account is maintained, along with the branch office location (if applicable) and city.
9. During the eight days (excluding weekends and legal holidays) before each primary, general or special election in which your committee is spending money, campaign books of account must be open for public inspection by appointment. Supply the street address and city where these books may be examined and a campaign contact for appointments.
10. Eligibility to give to state office candidates. Absence of a check mark means your committee does NOT qualify to give to legislative and executive statewide candidates.
11. Registrations are not considered filed unless signed by the committee treasurer.

Monetary and In-Kind Contributions

The law requires that all contributions to the candidate's campaign be reported. The information in this section will explain what a contribution is (and is not), discuss fund raising activities and also give details on contribution record keeping and reporting.

All judicial candidates and some county office and port commissioner candidates are subject to contribution limits. Candidates seeking election to a county office in Clark, King, Pierce, Snohomish, and Spokane Counties are subject to limits as well as Port of Tacoma and Port of Seattle commissioner candidates. These limits are explained in more detail on page 28. With the exception of these four counties and two port districts, there is no state imposed limit on how much a contributor may give a candidate for local office.

However, candidates seeking a City of Kirkland or City of Seattle office are subject to a local ordinance limiting contributions. Other jurisdictions may have imposed their own limits. Check with your county auditor, city clerk, or the city/county elections commission (whichever is applicable to the office you are seeking).

All candidates are subject to the "last minute" contribution limitations in place during the last 21 days before the general election discussed on page 4.

Definition

The term "contribution" includes:

- a loan, gift, deposit, subscription, forgiveness of indebtedness, donation, advance, pledge, payment, transfer of funds between political committees, or anything of value, including personal and professional services for less than full consideration;
- an expenditure made by a person in cooperation, consultation, or concert with, or at the request or suggestion of, a candidate, a political committee, or their agents; or
- the financing by a person of the dissemination, distribution, or republication, in whole or in part, of broadcast, written, graphic, or other form of political advertising prepared by a candidate, a political committee, or its authorized agent.

Dollars received from the sale of tickets to fund raising events such as dinners, concerts, parties and the like are contributions. The purchasers of the tickets are the contributors, even if the tickets are given to others. The record keeping associated with a fundraiser may be greatly reduced if the event qualifies as a low-cost fundraiser. See page 30 for further information.

The amount of contributions received from persons attending a fundraiser may be reduced for reporting purposes by the actual cost of consumables furnished in connection with the event, and only the excess over the actual cost of the consumables is a contribution. See the discussion on Deducting Cost of Consumables on page 35. (If you're holding a low-cost fund raiser where you simply lump together all funds received at the event and do not attribute the funds received to the persons attending, you would not also deduct the cost of consumables. See Qualifying Low-Cost Fund Raisers on page 30.)

Contributions, other than money, have a dollar value equivalent to the fair market value of the item. If services or items are provided to a campaign at less than their fair market value, reportable in-kind contributions have been received by the candidate.

What is Not a Contribution

The following activities are NOT considered contributions and need not be recorded in your campaign records:

- Ordinary home hospitality, including coffee hours, cocktail parties, wine and cheese parties and similar gatherings where the purpose is to meet the candidate or organize a campaign and where no admission fee is charged or contributions expected from those attending;

- personal services of the sort commonly performed by volunteers so long as the volunteers are not compensated by anyone (see Volunteer Services below);
- incidental expenditures by volunteers of $50 or less (if this limit is exceeded, the entire amount is reported as an in-kind contribution and subsequent expenditures by the volunteer would be disclosed as contributions on future reports) – see page 33 for details;
- a news item, feature, commentary, or editorial in a regularly scheduled news medium that is of primary interest to the general public, that is in a news medium controlled by a person whose business is that news medium, and that is not controlled by a candidate or a political committee;
- internal political communications from 1) a corporation or similar enterprise primarily to its officers, management staff and stockholders, 2) a union, association or other membership organization primarily to its members, or 3) a political party organization or political committee primarily to its contributors;
- messages on reader boards, banners, and yard or window signs displayed on a person's own property or property occupied by the person. However, if the person normally charges a fee to display a message, an in-kind contribution would occur if no comparable fee were charged for display of a political ad.

Everything else of value given the candidate or the candidate's committee for use in the election campaign -- including discounts on items purchased or services rendered -- is a contribution and must be recorded as such in your records.

Contribution Limits

Judicial candidates: A candidate for any judicial office is prohibited from accepting aggregate contributions exceeding $1,600 per election from any source.

Local candidates: County office and port commissioner candidates running for office in jurisdictions with more than 200,000 registered voters as of the most recent general election are subject to the contribution limits specified below. As of the 2008 General Election, only 5 counties and 2 port districts had more than 200,000 registered voters:

Counties	Port Districts
Clark	Port of Seattle
King	Port of Tacoma
Pierce
Spokane
Snohomish

County office candidates: Only candidates seeking election to county office in Clark, King, Pierce, Spokane, or Snohomish County are subject to contribution limits; candidates seeking election to county office in any one of Washington's other 34 counties in 2009 are not subject to contribution limits.

Port commissioner candidates: Only candidates seeking election to the Port of Tacoma or Port of Seattle are subject to contribution limits.

Source of Contribution	To Port of Seattle or Tacoma Commissioner Candidates	To King, Pierce, Spokane, or Snohomish County Office Candidates
Individual	$1,600 ¹	$800 ¹
Union or Business	1,600 ¹	800 ¹
Political Action Committee	1,600 ¹	800 ¹
State Party Central Committee	.80/voter ²	.80/voter ²
County Party Central Committee	.40/voter ³	.40/voter ⁴
Legislative District Committee	.40/voter ³	.40/voter ⁴
Minor Party Committee	.80/voter ⁵	.80/voter ⁵
Caucus Political Committee	.80/voter ⁵	.80/voter ⁵

1 This is a per election limit; each primary, general and special election is considered a separate election. This limit does not apply to the candidate using personal funds to give to his or her own campaign. The limit does apply to the candidate's spouse.

Donors giving to candidates subject to contribution limits may make primary election contributions up to 30 days after the date of the primary if the candidate loses in the primary and the candidate's authorized committee has insufficient funds to pay primary debts outstanding as of the date of the primary. General election contributions must be made no later than December 31 of the election year. Candidates who win the primary election may not accept primary election contributions after the primary.

During the 21 days before the general election, no candidate for local office may contribute to his or her own campaign more than $5,000 in the aggregate, and no candidate for statewide office, including Supreme Court Justice, may contribute to his or her own campaign more than $50,000 in the aggregate.

- 2 The limit amount of $.80 times the number of registered voters in the jurisdiction is for the entire election cycle. The election cycle is from January 1 after the last election for the office or the start of the candidate's campaign -- whichever is later -- through December 31 of the election year in which election is sought. Contributions must be made no later than December 31 of the election year.
- 3 During the election cycle (defined in #2 above), all county central committees and legislative district committees in the state share a combined limit to each candidate of $.40 times the number of registered voters statewide as of the last general election. (However, during the 21 days before the general election, neither a county central committee nor a legislative district committee may give a local office candidate more than $5,000 in the aggregate.) Contributions must be made no later than December 31 of the election year.
- 4 County central and legislative district committees may only give to candidates running for office in their jurisdictions. During the election cycle (defined in #2 above), a legislative district committee, in conjunction with all county central committees in that district, share a combined per candidate limit of $.40 times the number of registered voters in the legislative district as of the last general election. (However, during the 21 days before the general, neither a county central committee nor a legislative district committee may give a local office candidate more than $5,000 in the aggregate.) Contributions must be made no later than December 31 of the election year.
- 5 The limit amount is for the entire election cycle. The election cycle is from December 1 after the last election for the office or the start of the candidate's campaign -- whichever is later -- through December 31 of the year in which election is sought. Contributions must be made no later than December 31 of the election year.

Volunteer Services

As noted above in the definition of "contribution," personal services that are commonly performed by campaign volunteers are not considered contributions so long as the individual who performs one or more of these activities is not compensated by any person for the services rendered.

This means that volunteers (who are not paid by anyone for the volunteer tasks they perform) may do certain campaign work without the candidate having to report their services as in-kind contributions.

The Commission has defined "volunteer services" to include:

- Office staffing;
- Doorbelling or leaflet drops;
- Mail handling (folding, stuffing, sorting and postal preparation);
- Political or fundraising event staffing;
- Telephone bank activity (conducting voter identification, surveys or polling, and get-out-the-vote campaigns);
- Construction and placement of yard signs, hand-held signs or in-door signs;
- Chauffeuring for candidate or campaign staff;
- Scheduling of campaign appointments and events;
- Transporting voters to polling places on election day;
- The services of any individual, except an attorney or accountant*, provided that the services donated are solely for the purpose of ensuring compliance with state election or public disclosure laws;
- Campaign consulting and management services, polling and survey design, public relations and advertising or fundraising performed by any individual, so long as the individual is not a professional in that field who ordinarily charges a fee or receives compensation for providing those services; and
- All similar activities as determined by the Commission.

[*Note that an attorney or accountant may donate his or her professional services to a candidate in order to assist the candidate in complying with state election or PDC laws even if he or she is employed and is receiving payment from his or her employer for the services rendered to the candidate's campaign, or if the attorney or accountant is self-employed or performing the services without compensation during his or her own time.]

Fund Raising Events

All the dollars raised in connection with a fund raising event must be deposited into the campaign account. However, the amount donated by each contributor attending the event may be reduced by the pro-rated cost of consumables provided.

Consumables include food, beverages, preparation or catering or entertainment furnished at the event. If you reduce contributions by the cost of consumables, the purchase of these consumables is not reported as an expenditure. The decreased contribution amount already accounts for obtaining these items. Unless there is a limit on how much a contributor may give a candidate, it usually is not worth the extra bookkeeping involved in deducting the costs of consumables. See page 35 for more information.

All in-kind contributions received in connection with a fund raising event are also considered contributions. In-kind contributions are recorded at their fair market value. The fair market value is the amount a well-informed buyer or lessee, willing but not obligated to buy or lease, would pay; and which a well-informed seller, or lessor, willing but not obligated to sell or lease, would accept. See page 33 for more information on valuing in-kind contributions.

Unless the event is a "Qualifying Low-Cost Fund Raiser" as discussed below, the campaign must keep track of how much each contributor donated and record the names and addresses of those who gave over $25 at the fund raiser or whose cumulative total for the campaign is now over $25, and also indicate the occupation and employer of any individual who has given $100 or more in the aggregate.

Frequently, at fundraisers, candidates receive contributions from anonymous sources. Any anonymous funds received at a fundraiser count toward the limit placed on the amount of anonymous funds that may legally be received ($300 per calendar year or 1% of the total contributions received during the calendar year, whichever is more). Funds received in connection with a "Qualifying Low-Cost Fund Raiser" are not considered anonymous, even though the sources are unidentified.

Qualifying Low-Cost Fund Raisers

If a qualifying low-cost fund raiser is held, you only need to record the activity's date, a description of the event, and the total amount received from all contributors paying a total of $50 or less. You do not have to keep track of how much each person contributed and record that information in your records. In-kind contributions of $50 or under received in connection with one of the events need not be reported at all. Any event satisfying one of the criteria listed below qualifies as a low-cost fundraiser.

If someone pays over $50 to participate in the event (or pays more than $50 to purchase auction or sale items) or contributes goods or services valued at more than $50 in connection with the event, you must record that information in your contributor records. However, the remainder of the funds collected from participants paying a total of $50 or less may still be lumped together and recorded as a single sum.

Some people invited to low-cost fund raisers will not pay at the door, but rather will forward a check either before or after the event. So long as they attend the event you may treat their contribution like other funds received in connection with the event. However, if someone informs you that he or she does not plan to attend the fund raiser, but sends along a contribution anyway, that money is treated as a regular contribution and is not lumped together with fund raiser receipts.

Events that qualify as low-cost fund raisers:

- retail sales of goods or services at a reasonable approximation of their fair market value (e.g., a garage sale, or selling campaign buttons or T shirts for near the per-item price you paid for them);
- a licensed and legally operated gambling event [contact the Washington State Gambling Commission at (360) 486-3440 for information on raffles and other gambling events];

- a food and beverage event where the admission price or the cost for the food and beverages is no more than $25;
- an entertainment event (concert, dance, theater performance, etc.) where the admission price is no more than $25; and
- an auction or similar sale where the total fair market value of items donated by any person is no more than $50.

The entire event does not qualify as a low-cost fund raiser if you:

- sell goods or services at a price that exceeds their fair market value, or
- hold events having an admission price of more than $25*, or
- hold an auction and anyone donates items worth more than $50.

If one of the above occurs, you must record the amounts given by each contributor participating in the event.

[*Note, if the admission price to an event is more than $25, the event does NOT qualify as a low-cost fund raiser even if deducting for the cost of consumables would reduce the contribution amount to $25 or less.]

Loans

All loans, regardless of the source, received by the candidate or his/her campaign must be by written agreement. Under mini reporting, candidates may not receive loans that exceed the mini reporting thresholds of raising and spending no more than $3,500 in the campaign, not including the filing fee, and not accepting more than $300 from any one contributor, other than the candidate.

Candidate Loans: Candidates may choose to make loans to their own campaigns from their own personal funds. Under state law, the maximum amount a campaign may repay the candidate for all loans he or she made to the campaign is $4,700. Any loans made by the candidate to the campaign count against the mini reporting threshold of $5,000.

Commercial Loans: Loans to a candidate or candidate's committee from commercial lending institutions made in the regular course of business on the same terms ordinarily available to the public are considered loans to the candidate.

Non-Commercial Loans: A loan from an individual, political committee, corporation, union, or other entity that is received by the candidate or the campaign is a contribution to the campaign from the lender. Candidates filing under the mini reporting threshold are limited to a maximum of $300 in the aggregate per contributor.

Keeping Records of Contributions

For each contribution received (with the exception of contributions of $50 or less received at a qualifying low-cost fund raiser), the following information must be noted in your records:

- date contribution was received by the campaign;
- name, address, city, state and zip code of the contributor;
- amount of the contribution (or the value and description of an in-kind contribution);
- total amount the contributor has given since the start of your campaign, including loans, pledges and monetary and in-kind contributions; and
- occupation of any individual who has given more than $100 in the aggregate since the beginning of the campaign and the name, city and state of the individual's employer. (Failure to comply with this or any other reporting requirement could result in the campaign being found in substantial non-compliance with the disclosure law and its implementing rules.)

Each monetary contribution must be deposited into your account within five business days of receipt. This means that campaigns must make bank deposits of all monetary contributions at least weekly.

Remember, a contribution of more than $70 in currency (cash) may not be accepted from any source. Further, political committees, political parties and caucus committees must make all monetary contributions by check, regardless of amount.

"Receipt" of Contributions

In the past, some campaigns have had difficulty determining when a contribution is officially considered received. In order to remedy this confusion, the Commission adopted the following administrative rule.

"Receipt" of a campaign contribution shall be deemed to occur at the earliest of the following:

- the date that the candidate, treasurer, deputy treasurer, campaign manager, campaign chairperson or similarly situated campaign official obtains possession of the contribution, or
- the date that the candidate, treasurer, deputy treasurer, campaign manager, campaign chairperson or similarly situated campaign official is informed of the contribution, or becomes aware that the campaign, or in the case of an earmarked contribution, the intermediary, has possession of the contribution, or
- the date that the contribution becomes available for use by the candidate or committee.

Sources of Contributions

Candidates and treasurers who file disclosure reports listing their sources of contributions must often make decisions about whom to show as the contributor.

Contributors have the obligation to inform campaigns of the true and actual sources of the donation at the time the contribution is made. However, in the absence of other information concerning a contribution's true source, follow the interpretations given below when keeping records.

One-Party Personal Checks: List the name printed on the top of the check as the contributor.

Joint Personal Account Checks: Attribute equal parts of the contribution to the names of the individuals printed on the check, or the whole amount to both individuals, unless a written explanation to the contrary accompanies the contribution. (For example, in the case of a $100 check drawn on the account of John and Mary Smith, the entire amount could be attributed to John and Mary as a unit, or $50 to John and $50 to Mary.)

Checks Drawn on Sole-Proprietor Business Accounts: For contribution purposes, the owner of the business and the business entity are considered one and the same. Show the business owner's name as the contributor. The owner's aggregate contribution total must include donations from his/her personal funds as well as from the business.

Partnership Account Checks: List the partnership as the contributor, unless the contribution is to be paid from one or more of the partners' capital accounts, in which case the contribution is attributed to the partner or partners whose funds are being used. Written notice of this arrangement should accompany the check.

Corporate, Union or Association Account Checks: Show the contribution as coming from the corporation, union or association whose name is printed on the check, unless the giver is affiliated for contribution purposes with another entity, in which case the contribution is attributed to both entities.

PAC Checks: Show the political committee whose name is printed on the check as the contributor.

Contributions From Minors: Contributions by unemancipated children under eighteen years of age are considered contributions by their parents and are attributed proportionately to each parent. In the case of a single custodial parent, the total amount of the contribution is attributed to that parent; otherwise, 50% of the contribution is attributed to each parent.

Contributions from emancipated children under eighteen years of age are considered contributions from the child if the decision to contribute is made knowingly and voluntarily by the child, the contribution is from a source owned and controlled exclusively by the child, and the contribution does not result from a gift intended to give the child the wherewithal to contribute.

Contributions of Uncertain Origin

Do not deposit any contribution or accept any in-kind contribution if you know or suspect it has been made in a fictitious name, or by one person through an agent, relative, political committee, or any other person so as to conceal the true source. Return such a contribution within ten calendar days to the source, if known, or endorse the check and make it payable to the Washington State Treasurer. Send the check to PDC, along with an explanation, for deposit in the state's general fund.

In-Kind Contributions

Monetary contributions are not the only things of value received by campaigns. Frequently, contributors will donate goods and services in lieu of or in addition to their monetary donations.

Incidental in-kind contributions to candidates who are not subject to state contribution limits -- those in-kind donations that either singly or in conjunction with other in-kinds from the same contributor do not exceed $50 in value during a reporting period -- do not need to be reported or added into the contributor's contribution total. This means that someone could allow the campaign to use his or her conference room, copier or make a few local calls on the contributor's telephone without incurring a reportable contribution. Obviously, since little things have a way of adding up, if someone frequently provides the campaign with small items or services, a record had best be kept so that it will be apparent if the $50 per reporting period threshold is reached. See the next page for more information about when local candidates who are subject to state contribution limits must report in-kind contributions.

Another example of an incidental in-kind contribution that is not reportable is when an association merely relays to its members a request from a candidate or political committee for contributions. The association could not, however, collect contributions from any source -- including its members -- and pass those contributions along to the intended recipient. Also, if an association does more than relay a request for a contribution or put a candidate in touch with a potential contributor, the association will be seen as exercising direction or control over the ensuing contribution and its value will be fully attributed to the association as well as the person supplying the contribution.

Associations and other entities may arrange to have their members provide volunteer services to a candidate or political committee without an in-kind contribution occurring so long as the coordination involved in this activity only results in incidental expenditures to the association as discussed above.

Other common examples of in-kind contributions are donated office space, printing, polling services, training of campaign workers, professional assistance to campaign managers or help with preparation of political advertising. When a candidate or another person makes out-of-pocket campaign expenditures that are not reimbursed by the campaign, those expenditures also constitute in-kind contributions.

As discussed under "Volunteer Services," the personal services of campaign volunteers who perform common volunteer functions are not reportable as in-kind contributions so long as the volunteers are not paid by anyone for the campaign work they do. However, if an individual assists the campaign while on the company payroll or if he or she is otherwise compensated by his or her employer for the campaign work performed, that person's employer is making an in-kind contribution to the campaign.

A candidate's time spent on his or her own campaign is not reported as a contribution unless an employer gives a candidate time off with pay to campaign. If this happens, the employer is making a reportable in-kind contribution. An employer does not make a contribution if an employee who happens to be a candidate or other campaign staff member takes earned, paid leave time to campaign.

The contribution's fair market value is the amount a well-informed buyer or lessee, willing but not obligated to buy or lease, would pay; and what a well-informed seller, or lessor, willing but not obligated to sell or lease, would accept.

Generally, this means the amount the contributor would ordinarily expect to receive if someone were paying him or her to provide the item or service. For example, if a candidate is given materials by a local retail hardware store for the construction of yard signs, an in-kind contribution has been made equal to the current retail sales price of the materials.

However, if the business donating the materials is a wholesale supplier, the in-kind contribution is equal to the amount this wholesaler charges its customers for the materials.

Expenditures and Debts

Definition

The term "expenditure" includes a payment, contribution, subscription, distribution, loan, advance, deposit, or gift of money or anything of value. It includes a contract, promise or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make an expenditure.

The term "expenditure" also includes a promise to pay, a payment or a transfer of anything of value in exchange for goods, services, property, facilities, or anything of value for the purpose of assisting, benefiting, or honoring any public official or candidate, or assisting in furthering or opposing any election campaign.

Transfers between bank accounts (from checking to savings, for example) are not considered expenditures.

Permissible Expenditures

Campaign funds may only be used for expenditures that are directly related to the candidate's campaign.

Although by no means a complete list of allowable campaign expenses, the following will give you some idea of what types of expenses are permitted:

- Campaign employees and consultants;
- Campaign headquarters, office equipment and supplies;
- Campaign fund raising activities (including candidate's portion of joint fund raising expenditures shared with other candidates);
- Filing fees paid when candidate files Declaration of Candidacy;
- Political advertising expenses (including advertising that immediately follows an election thanking contributors and voters for their support);
- lists of voters in the candidate's district;
- lists of potential contributors;
- polling and voter ID expenses;
- payments to accountants, bookkeepers, lawyers, computer consultants and the like for assistance in complying with PDC and election laws (note that this type of assistance may be provided free to the campaign without a contribution ensuing); and
- any other expense that is directly related to the candidate's election campaign.

Further, although the law prohibits using campaign funds to make a contribution to another candidate or political committee (other than using surplus funds to give to a political party or caucus committee), it is OK for a candidate to use his or her campaign money to attend an event held by another candidate, a political party or committee so long as attending the event is directly related to the candidate's own campaign and the candidate's campaign only pays the per-person cost of consumables provided at the event. That is, the candidate uses his or her campaign money only to pay for his or her share of the actual cost of food, beverages, preparation, catering and entertainment furnished at the event. If the candidate wishes to pay the full admission charge, he or she must use his/her own personal funds to do so.

Remember that any expenditure of $50 or more in currency (actual cash dollars) may only be made if a written receipt signed by the vendor (or the recipient of the money) and the treasurer or candidate is made part of your committee's records.

Also keep in mind that expenditures may only be made, incurred or authorized by the candidate or the campaign treasurer.

Surplus Funds Accounts

Who Needs to Set Up a Surplus Funds Account: Any elected official who wants to spend surplus campaign funds for non-reimbursed public office related expenses must set up a Surplus Funds Account in order to make these types of expenditures.

The other six legally permissible options for disposing of surplus campaign funds found in RCW 42.17.095 and listed below in "Using the Account" may be engaged in either with a Surplus Funds Account or directly out of the old campaign account. However, the dangers of not setting up a separate Surplus Funds Account and simply disposing of surplus funds out of the now inactive campaign account are:

- 1) the funds can't be used for non-reimbursed public office related expenses; and
- 2) once new campaign monies are co-mingled with any existing surplus balance, or the surplus is carried forward to a new campaign, or expenditures triggering candidacy for a new campaign are made out of the account, none of the funds in the account is considered surplus and the money now may only be used for expenditures that are directly related to the new campaign.

Opening the Account: Take all or a portion of truly surplus funds and open a separate Surplus Funds Account (or transfer latest surplus into an already existing Surplus Funds Account).

"Surplus funds" are the balance of contributions given for a specific election that remain after the election and are not needed to pay off that election's campaign debts. Funds remaining after an election are NO LONGER SURPLUS FUNDS if they have been carried forward to a new campaign, mingled with new contributions for a future election, or used to make expenditures for a future election campaign.

Using the Account: According to RCW 42.17.095(7), you may only use monies in a Surplus Funds Account for one or more of the following:

- non-reimbursed public office related expenses;*
- refunds to contributors [repayment of a candidate's loans to his/her own campaign are subject to the maximum repayment permitted by RCW 42.17.125(3); currently, that maximum is $4,000 per election];
- payments to the candidate for verifiable earnings lost because of campaigning;
- unlimited contributions to a bona fide political party or caucus political committee;
- donations to a charity registered with the Secretary of State in accordance with RCW 19.09;
- deposits into the state's general fund, the oral history, state library, and archives account under RCW 43.07.380, or the legislative international trade account under RCW 44.04.270, as specified by the candidate or political committee; and
- transfers to your campaign account for use in a future election (if a different office is sought than the one for which the surplus funds were initially raised, written permission will have to be obtained from contributors before the surplus may be used to seek the different office).

Bookkeeping Tips

This section includes some hints to assist treasurers in compiling and reporting campaign finance information.

The law requires that accurate records be maintained. Use any bookkeeping system that meets this requirement. If you have ideas that would help other treasurers, please share them.

Deducting Cost of Consumables

Review the discussion on Fund Raising Events and Qualifying Low-Cost Fund Raisers beginning on page 30.

The law permits that the amount of a contribution received in connection with a fund raising event (such as a dinner) may be reduced by the cost of the food, beverages, preparation, catering or entertainment furnished at the event.

If you choose to do this, some special bookkeeping techniques are necessary and you'll probably want to set up a subsidiary set of records for the event.

In order to deduct the cost of consumables from each contribution received, you have to determine the per person amount to be deducted. To do this, add up all the separate charges for food, beverages, preparation, catering and entertainment provided at the event. Divide this total by the number of persons you planned for, the number you told the caterer to provide food for. (This number of persons will likely be smaller than the number of persons invited, but may be larger than the number who actually show up. Nevertheless, using the number of attendees you relied on for planning purposes is a fair way to compute the per-person cost of consumables.)

The amount you arrive at after dividing the total cost of consumables by the number of persons you planned would attend is the per-person consumables cost. Deduct this amount from each attendee's donation check. If you did not charge a uniform admission amount, the figure for each contributor will vary. However, if you asked each person, for example, to contribute $100 and the per person consumables cost was $20, you would indicate $80 contribution from each contributor who attended. (Note, if someone did not attend the event, but sent a contribution anyway, you cannot deduct the cost of consumables from that person's contribution. It would be reported at the full amount.)

Joint Fund Raising and "Slate" Committees

Candidates are advised to follow these guidelines when participating in joint fund raising efforts with other candidates and in committees that support a slate of candidates.

Joint Fund Raising: A separate joint fund raising account is established. There is no need to register this account with PDC as a separate committee. All contribution checks are made out in the name of the joint fund raising account. All joint fund raising expenses are paid out of this account. After expenses are paid, the account will distribute the remaining funds to all participants on a pro-rated basis. That is, if there are four candidates participating, each receives one-fourth of the net receipts.

Accompanying this payment to each candidate will be a list of contributor names and addresses and the full amount of each candidate's pro-rated share. For example, if a donor gave $500 to the joint fund raising effort of four candidates, the list would show this contributor giving each candidate $125. [Note that if a contributor's pro-rated amount to each candidate is $100 or more, and the contributor is an individual, then the candidate will need to obtain the contributor's occupation and employer in addition to name and address.]

Alternatively, each candidate involved in a joint fund raising event could pay a set percentage of the expenses and receive a similar percentage of the funds collected at the event. For example if one candidate were responsible for 60% of the expenses at a joint fund raising event, then that candidate would receive 60% of the funds remaining after expenses are paid. Each candidate committee participating in the event would receive a pro-rated or proportional amount of the funds collected in relation to the expenses paid by that committee.

"Slate" Committees: The law allows candidates to participate in committees organized to support a slate of candidates. Unlike joint fund raising efforts, slate committees do not pass along the money raised to the candidates involved, but rather directly spend the contributions received in a manner that benefits all the candidates participating in the committee.

Slate committees register and report like any political committee. On its C-1pc registration statement, a slate committee would check the "other" box in the purpose or description of committee section, and attach a sheet explaining that it is a committee organized to support a slate of candidates. The names and offices sought of the candidates participating would also be listed on this attachment.

The law requires that all contributions made by a contributor directly or indirectly to a candidate be considered as contributions to that candidate. [RCW 42.17.670] As such, contributors to slate committees are, in fact, giving to the candidates who are participating in the committee.

ELECTRONIC FILING OF PERSONAL FINANCIAL AFFAIRS STATEMENT

Public officials and candidates have the opportunity to file their annual Personal Financial Affairs Statement electronically over the Internet. The F-1 electronic filing process provides an easy way for elected officials, state appointed officials and candidates to comply with state reporting requirements.

Officials may use agency computers and staff to file annual F-1 reports (since filing requirement stems from their holding public office).

Minimum system requirements for Macintosh & Windows compatible PC's

	Adobe Acrobat	Internet Explorer	Netscape
Windows PC	5.0x or higher	5.0x or higher	4.7x or higher
Macintosh	5.0x or higher	5.5x or higher	4.7x or higher

Setting Up a New Electronic Filing Account

1. Go to www.pdc.wa.gov.
2. Click Filer Resources.
3. Click Electronic Filing (left column).
4. Click the appropriate candidate type from the choices on the right..
5. Click F-1 Account Login – middle column under Electronic Filing Option.
6. Click Personal Financial Affairs Filer in the box on the right.
7. Follow the instructions from page to page to create electronic filing account.

Note: Print the signature card. (Your temporary filer ID is in the top right corner. Use it until your permanent filer ID is e-mailed to you.) Sign the signature card and mail it to the PDC. The PDC staff will e-mail a permanent filer ID to you when your signature card is received. You must click “next” after viewing and printing the signature card – your account will be deleted if you do not click “next” after viewing and printing the signature card.

1. A filing confirmation appears on screen and is e-mailed to you.
