We had a great event on Wednesday evening with a local Jazz band from Prairie. The band is very talented and gave a wonderful performance. I first heard this band this past winter when they performed for a concert at my church. They are so good I was excited for others to hear them and enjoy their music.

The problem with this was that as a public employee, the band director cannot book the band for political events. This was an oversight and I didn't intend for any rules to be broken. I accept responsibility for the mistake and I am sorry.

These young adults are wonderful and very talented musicians. If you have not heard them, I encourage you to check-out when the band is playing again and support their concerts with your attendance.
